Foreword

My beloved young friends, warm greetings in the name of Jesus Christ!

You are incredibly precious in the sight of God, and He loves you beyond measure. When I see young people rising up with zeal to serve the Lord, my heart overflows with praise.

Yet, as Paul exhorts, “Never be lacking in zeal, but keep your spiritual fervor, serving the Lord” (Romans 12:11) you must remain fervent in spirit, burning with passion for the Lord. In recent days, I have seen youth armies springing up across districts of Tamil Nadu. Like Elijah and Daniel, many have dedicated themselves wholly to God, stepping out with unwavering commitment. This is nothing less than God fulfilling His promise—raising and using a new generation for His glory.

Dear friends, rise up! Be alert. Run your race of faith with discipline and perseverance. Many who began in the Spirit, sadly, ended in the flesh. But you are not called for that. As end-time youth, you are chosen to carry the spirit of Elijah—fiery, fearless, and unshakable. “As the Lord God of Israel lives, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, except at my word.” (1 Kings 17:1)

Elijah stood boldly before King Ahab with this challenge, aflame with God’s power. The same fiery spirit is what God desires to ignite in you today. Elijah’s ministry turned a rebellious nation back to God. By calling down fire from heaven, he led Israel to fall on their faces in repentance, crying out: “The Lord—He is God!”

That is the kind of Gospel ministry we need in this generation—one that demonstrates the truth of Christ not only with words, but with signs, wonders, and miracles. For God to use you in this mighty way, you must remain ablaze in the Spirit. Only then will your life burn as a living testimony, proving that Jesus alone is Lord.

“God is raising end-time Elijahs—burning, unshakable, and mighty for His Kingdom.” May the Lord set you on fire and raise you as part of His end-time Elijah generation!

In Christ's Mission

Testimony: Agnes

"Jesus, My Elder Brother"

On a bright morning, we visited the home of Sister Gracelin in a small village of Eral Taluk. The villagers welcomed us warmly and led us straight to her house. Following the tradition of heartfelt village hospitality, Gracelin and her family greeted us with steaming cups of coffee served in large tumblers, their faces glowing with joy. Surrounded by that warmth and love, we sat down to record an inspiring interview.

We now share this conversation with you, hoping it will strengthen your faith. If the Lord touches you through this testimony, don't forget to let us know! Tell us about yourself and your family.

Tell us about yourself and your family.

I was born and raised in a small village in Eral Taluk, Thoothukudi district. Although I grew up in a Christian family, I was a Christian only in name. I completed my schooling in 2019, but until then, I had no personal relationship with Jesus. I lived as I pleased, without caring for God.

I have an elder sister and live with my parents. While I enjoyed my sister's love, I always longed for a brother. I cherished the idea of brotherhood, so I loved my cousins deeply, believing they would always stand by me like my own brothers. But after I finished my higher secondary (+2), that trust

need worldly love;
You alone are enough for me."

the lockdown came. Through the "Let's Pray" program, I learned how and why to pray. My prayer life grew longer and deeper.

was shattered. Words spoken by those I loved broke my heart. It was then I realized that human love is fragile and temporary.

Those you loved as brothers hurt you deeply. Did you find another relationship that healed this wound?

Yes. When I was crushed by that pain, I went to the Lord and wept: "Lord, those I loved as brothers have hurt me." I cried, confessing, "Jesus, this whole world is an illusion. People love only for their own gain. But I forgot You—the One who gives true love. I no longer need worldly love; You alone are enough for me."

As I prayed, Jesus gently reminded me of my sins and led me to confess them. I wept, "Lord, I have wasted so many years. I have sinned and grieved You." I surrendered completely, confessing all my sins, and on May 19, 2019, I accepted Jesus as my personal Savior and dedicated my life fully to Him. That was the day I was saved. From that moment onward, Jesus became my Elder Brother, guiding me step by step.

Wonderful! After accepting Jesus as your Savior, how did your relationship with Him grow?

Until then, my prayer time was just five minutes. I didn't know I should pray for my nation, for the perishing souls, or for revival. Then

I also had a longing to receive the anointing of the Holy Spirit, so I prayed earnestly for it. After my salvation, I began reading and meditating on the Bible. God's Word molded me day by day, shaping me like clay in the Potter's hands. As I read, I learned how I should live and how I should not. My love for the Word kept increasing.

Whenever I was burdened, it was the Bible that wiped my tears and guided my steps. Through the Word, I began to taste and see that the Lord is good.

That's beautiful! You learned to pray and delight in God's Word. Did you receive the anointing you longed for?

Yes! At the Igniters Camp, the Lord anointed me. He filled me with the gift of tongues, the anointing for spiritual warfare, and the power to share the Gospel. During the pandemic, I spent much time with Jesus. Those moments brought me great joy, because I experienced the reality of speaking with God and hearing Him speak to me. Since accepting Jesus, my sinful nature has changed. He transformed me into a new creation.

Amazing! After Grade 12, were you able to continue your studies?

Initially, I tried to prepare for NEET exams, but I didn't succeed. Then I considered Nursing, but the fees were far too high. I prayed earnestly about what course to pursue. By August, I began to fear that I would waste a whole year. When I enquired at a nearby college about B.Sc. Mathematics, admissions were already closed. They then mentioned that two seats were still available in Engineering. But the fees were ₹30,000 a year, plus bus fare. Since my father was the only earning member of our family, we could not afford it.

I cried out, "Jesus, how can we ever pay such fees?" I wasn't even praying properly; I was just pouring out my fear before Him. At that very moment, the college called me. They said, "Since you have scored above 500 marks, you don't need to pay any tuition fees—only the bus fees. Please come and confirm your admission immediately."

My joy knew no bounds! When I went for admission, the Principal looked at my mark sheet but said nothing. Yet before I could even finish telling Jesus my problem, He had already provided the answer—doing far more for me than even a brother could have done.

Hallelujah! What a miracle! How did your studies go after that?

Since I came from a Tamil-medium background, studying Engineering in English was very difficult at first. But when I prayed for wisdom, the Lord promised to give me the same wisdom He gave Solomon. And He did!

God helped me to win many medals and shields. I secured the second rank in my department. In my final semester, I was chosen as the team leader for my project. I had no idea what to do, but when I prayed, the Lord guided me wonderfully, enabling me to win the Best Paper Presentation Award.

Once, I was a failure. But when I held on to Him, God lifted me up and gave me victory after victory.

Amazing! God has blessed you so much in your studies. In return, what did you do for Him?

At the Igniters Camp, I was taught that every believer must serve the Lord. There, God also anointed me with the anointing of evangelism. Mohan Uncle encouraged us, saying that even while studying, we can serve God. I felt a burden to share the Gospel, but I was timid and afraid of both spiritual warfare and evangelism.

Once, I was a failure. But when I held on to Him, God lifted me up and gave me victory after victory!

The Lord trained me patiently. Since I was hesitant to go out and share the Gospel directly, God used my mobile phone instead. Each morning, during my personal prayer, He would give me a verse. I would post it as my WhatsApp status, praying: "Lord Jesus, may at least one soul be saved through this verse."

As a result, my Tamil teacher read these words and accepted Jesus. My gentile friends also said, "This verse speaks to me." In this way, I began to share the Gospel. Later, I joined with others to evangelize as a group.

Because of this, God blessed not only my spiritual life but also my worldly life in many ways.

Finally, what is your message to young people?

Dear youth, love everyone, but don't place your trust in people. Only Jesus is worthy of your full trust. Parents and friends may not always be with you, but the Lord will be your Father, your Mother, your Friend—your everything.

No matter what your sin is, if you come to Jesus, He will cleanse you. In every matter, talk to Him first in prayer. Love the Bible. Never stop reading it, for the Word will lead you in the right path.

Beloved youth, many accept Jesus as their Father or Mother. But Sister Gracelin uniquely embraced Him as her Elder Brother. Perhaps you too feel that a certain relationship is missing in your life. Don't be disheartened. Jesus will be your Brother, helping you in every way. Keep Him always before you. With Him at your right hand, you will never be shaken.

God has blessed not only my spiritual life but also my worldly life in many ways.

ARISE and SHINE!

Warm greetings in the precious name of our Lord Jesus Christ! This month, God speaks to you personally: "My son, My daughter — your light has come! I have given you My radiance. Now rise and shine!" This isn't just a promise. It's a command.

Because darkness never wins where light refuses to hide!

A World Covered in Darkness

We live in troubling times. Each day brings fresh headlines of death, war, famine, disease, and violence. Evil seems to flood every corner of the earth.

The Bible says Satan knows his time is short (Revelation 12:12), and he is raging against humanity with destructive fury.

But darkness can only be defeated by light. That's why Jesus declared, "While I am in the world, I am the Light of the world" (John 9:5). He came to drive out death's shadow — and if you receive Him as the Light, He will turn your own life from darkness to radiant brightness. Even more, that light must shine through you to others.

The Light of Good Works

Jesus said, "Let your light shine before others, that they may see your good deeds and glorify your Father in heaven" (Matthew 5:16).

Wherever you live, work, study, or serve, people should see your kindness, integrity, and compassion. Good works are beams of light that push back darkness. They are not for your glory, but for His. When you live this way, the very atmosphere around you changes — shadows disappear, and God's presence fills your surroundings.

Message: Mohan C. Lazarus

The Light of the Holy Spirit

A lamp doesn't burn brightly just because it's clean. It needs oil. Likewise, to shine in this world, you need the anointing of the Holy Spirit.

Daily prayer is the key. Each morning, rise early, seek God, and let Him fill you afresh with His Spirit. As oil fills the lamp, power and holiness will fill your life. Soon, people will notice the glow — in your face, your words, and your actions. If you haven't yet received the baptism of the Holy Spirit, desire it, pray for it, and God will surely pour it out.

Don't Hide Your Light

Jesus said, "No one lights a lamp and hides it under a bowl. Instead, they put it on a stand, so that those who come in may see the light" (Luke 11:33).

It's not enough to have the flame; you must let it shine boldly. Don't let personal weaknesses or past failures dim your light. Place it high where everyone can see — and watch darkness flee.

God says to you today:

"My child, rise and shine! If you do, the darkness in your home, your street, your city will vanish.

Every work of the enemy against you will be destroyed."

Time to Search Your Heart!

Dear young friend, has the Light of Jesus entered your life? If yes, is there still any "smoke" — sin, compromise, or distraction — clouding your glow? Clear it out. Let the Holy Spirit cleanse and empower you. Then nothing can stop you from rising and shining for Christ!

Lost on the WRONG LANE

I am 28 years old. I first started chewing tobacco with my friends when I was in Grade 11, without my family or school knowing. Later, during college, I began experimenting with stronger substances along with the same group of friends. Now I find myself fully addicted, and my entire life has become a question mark. I can't hold a job. My own family has pushed me away because my friends and I have been involved in fights, accidents, and even police cases while under the influence. My sister's marriage proposals have been blocked because people ask, "How can we marry our daughter into this family when her brother lives like this?" I have a younger sister too, and our whole household is breaking apart. I want to come out of this addiction, but my friends force me to stay in it. I truly want to change, but I feel powerless. What should I do?

- Michael, Avadi

Dear Michael,

I understand your situation. On one side, you're in pain because you feel trapped in this addiction. On the other, you're burdened with guilt because it's affecting your family, especially your sisters' future. What started as a casual habit with friends has now turned into a destructive bondage.

But hear this clearly: no sinful habit is impossible to break. You must first believe with certainty that you can come out of this.

Heart Beat

Counsel: Lvi

Also understand this — a true friend is someone who pulls you away from a wrong path, not someone who pushes you into it. Anyone forcing you into sin is not your friend. Such people can't fix your problems; they'll only deepen them.

Wanting freedom is good, but desire alone is not enough. You need determination, discipline, and perseverance.

If you continue because of peer pressure...

- ▶ You'll remain unable to work, and your future will sink even deeper.
- ▶ This addiction could eventually lead you to prison and public disgrace.

- ▶ Your family situation will worsen; bitterness may grow between you and your sisters.
- ▶ Like your older sister, your younger sister's future may also be affected.
- ▶ Your health will deteriorate, and frustration could drive you toward dangerous decisions.

If you break free despite your friends' pressure...

- ▶ Your life, which now feels like a question mark, will take a new direction.
- ▶ You'll regain dignity and respect as you begin earning and building a stable future.
- ▶ Your sister's marriage prospects will open up, and your family will start to heal.
- ▶ Though you may lose your friends' approval, you'll gain your family's love.
- ▶ Guilt will be replaced by peace and joy.

Steps to break this bondage

- ▶ Cut off toxic friendships completely: Block every contact that enables this addiction.
- ▶ Avoid isolation: Addictions grow strongest in lonely moments. Keep yourself surrounded by healthy influences.
- ▶ Consider relocating: Sometimes a change of place can create a fresh start.
- ▶ Replace darkness with light: Don't just think, "I must quit drugs." Instead, engage in sports, family activities, or creative pursuits to redirect your mind.
- ▶ Turn to Jesus Christ: He is ready to forgive your sins, free you from this bondage, and adopt you as His child. Scripture says, "Whoever conceals their sins does not prosper, but the one who confesses and renounces them finds mercy" (Proverbs 28:13). Confess your sins, receive His grace, and begin a new life!.

Darkness doesn't leave by shouting at it – it leaves when you let light in. Michael, freedom is possible. Choose courage over compromise, light over darkness, and your life and your family's future will turn around!

No Trend...

My Friend!

Hello friends! It's a joy to meet you once again through this Trend Article. Scripture reminds us that we must set an example in certain areas of life. I believe this space serves as a checkpoint to examine whether our actions are truly worthy—or not.

Today, it's encouraging to see many young people eager to do good works. Through various service forums and initiatives, helping others has become a growing trend. The Apostle Paul gave similar counsel to young Titus: "In everything, set them an example by doing what is good" (Titus 2:7). Titus carried a special grace to serve others in this way.

Some young people do good wholeheartedly. For others, doing good feels like a burden. And then there are those who involve themselves in good deeds simply to advertise themselves.

Remember the young man who asked Jesus, "I have kept all the commandments—will I inherit eternal life?" The Lord replied, "If you want treasure in heaven, sell what you have and give to the poor."

My dear young friends, look around at what's trending today—it's quite different. People give to the poor, but only after making sure to take a photo and post it online. They donate through service organizations, but only to show the world how "great" they are. Doing good has become a performance for public applause.

Youth in action: Duke Richard

But what does the Bible say? "Be an example in doing good." The good works of a child of God must stand apart from the good works of the world.

Consider Mother Teresa, who, though European by birth, chose to live and serve in India. Compelled by the love of Christ, she cared for lepers—without disgust, without expectation of reward.

So, my beloved friends, let us not do good for publicity. Let us do good to reveal the love of Christ. Scripture says, "Give what is within as charity, and then everything will be clean for you" (Luke 11:41). In other words, our giving purifies us as much as it blesses others.

Let us step forward with whole hearts to serve. The Lord expects this of us. "Whoever is kind to the poor lends to the Lord," says the Word. When Jesus was filled with the Holy Spirit, He went about doing good and healing (Acts 10:38). When we are filled with the Spirit, we too will be moved to do good.

True joy is found not in receiving, but in giving. This month, let's break the trend—Good works not for promotion, but for transformation.

See you again next month, friends!

400 Rejections!

One Goal! Zero Quit!

Net Worth

Dear young achievers, warm greetings to you! Whether in academics, sports, or career, all of us share one dream — to succeed and move forward. But when failure strikes or rejection hits hard, that fire for success often feels like it's been snuffed out. If you're reading this and feel stuck in that very place, this story is for you.

From Small-Town Boy to Global CEO

In the city of Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh, no one could have guessed that a young boy named Nikesh Arora would one day become one of the highest-paid executives in the world.

Raised with strict discipline as the son of an Air Force officer, Nikesh excelled in studies, earning an Electrical Engineering degree from IIT-BHU. Determined to chase bigger dreams, he moved to the U.S. to complete an MBA and advanced studies in finance.

Like most of us, he expected a smooth climb — study hard, land a great job, rise quickly. But reality hit hard. His job applications were rejected 400 times.

When Rejection Became His Training Ground

Most people would have quit. Nikesh didn't. Instead of treating rejection as a dead end, he saw it as training for greatness.

Finally, his persistence paid off — he became Vice President at Fidelity Investments. Google spotted his talent and made him Head of EMEA Operations, later promoting him to Chief Business Officer.

Soon after, SoftBank Group appointed him President and CEO. And in 2018, he took charge as CEO and Chairman of Palo Alto Networks, earning global recognition as a top leader in the tech industry. By 2023, his annual compensation reached $151.4 million, placing him among the highest-paid CEOs in the United States.

Failure Isn't the Finish Line — It's Fuel

Friends, here's the takeaway: 400 rejections didn't stop him — they shaped him.

Nikesh Arora kept getting up, again and again, refusing to let failure define his future.

Rejection is not the end. It's a classroom where success gives you your first lessons. If you choose to see it that way, victory isn't just possible — it's inevitable.

So rise up, dust yourself off, and keep running toward your dream. Because the only real failure is giving up.

Lukewarm is Dangerous

Today, many young people who are called to shine for the Lord are living in a lukewarm state—neither burning hot nor refreshingly cold. But remember this: Christ did not shed His precious blood so we could drift through life casually. His sacrifice was not meant for a half-hearted existence, split between the world and Him.

“Jesus didn’t die to make you comfortable. He died to make you committed.”

Choose Whom You Will Serve

Joshua once challenged the people of Israel: “If serving the Lord seems undesirable to you, then choose this day whom you will serve... But as for me and my household, we will serve the Lord” (Joshua 24:15).

Though Israel was God’s chosen nation, they often wandered after other gods. Joshua rose with holy zeal and called them back to loyalty. Today, the same challenge stands before us—you cannot live a double life. Either burn for Jesus or fade into compromise.

“You cannot cling to Christ and cuddle the world at the same time.”

Why the World Stumbles in Darkness

If today’s children of God were ablaze like Joshua, India itself would already be flooded with the light of Christ. Yet many youth hesitate—unable to give up the world, yet unwilling to give up Jesus. In the end, they shine for neither.

History teaches us: whenever Israel had godly leaders, they followed the Lord wholeheartedly. But when leadership failed, they turned away, forgetting His miracles and His mercy. Lukewarm living kept them out of the Promised Land. But Joshua, burning with fire, entered Canaan.

No Two Masters

Jesus was clear: "No one can serve two masters" (Matthew 6:24). The world and trade passion for pleasure. "Lukewarm living is wasted living."

A Call to the Last Days

My beloved young friends, these are the last days! God longs to accomplish mighty works through you. But if you remain lukewarm, you will be useless—neither to God nor to the world. The Lord warns: "Because you are lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will vomit you out of My mouth." (Revelation 3:16).

So, cling to the eternal God, not this passing world. Be ablaze for Him!

*Live holy. Live passionate.
Live burning.*

Only then will you shine brilliantly for Christ in this dark world!

its desires will one day vanish, along with everyone who chases them.

Samson was called to blaze for God, but by giving space to worldly pleasures, he lost both his strength and his vision. The same danger stalks today's generation—many youth lose their calling when they

I Am a Prayer Warrior!

Unyielding Prayer (Daniel)

Prayer that refuses to quit. Prayer rooted in faith and hope. That's what unyielding prayer looks like. The Bible introduces us to many who prayed in unique ways — each with a story of breakthrough. Last month, we reflected on how the church's fervent prayer released Peter from prison. This month, let's discover how Daniel's steadfast prayer life turned impossible situations into glorious victories.

Daniel's Unshakable Prayer Life

► Consistent devotion: Even when King Darius banned prayer to any god but himself, Daniel knelt down three times a day to pray as usual

(Daniel 6:10). His commitment spoke louder than any royal decree.

► Bold transparency: Daniel prayed openly with his windows facing Jerusalem (Daniel 6:10), showing he had nothing to hide about his devotion.

► Fearless faith: Even when thrown into the lions' den, Daniel never abandoned prayer. His faith in God remained unshaken (Daniel 6:23).

Daniel teaches us that prayer is not an emergency tool for crisis moments - it's a lifestyle.

Uncompromising Integrity

Daniel's challenges weren't just about prayer - they were about character.

▶ He refused to defile himself with royal food and wine, choosing purity over privilege (Daniel 1:8–17).

▶ He stood for truth even when it was costly.

▶ He and his friends remained faithful to God despite pressure to conform, even when their Hebrew names were replaced with pagan ones.

▶ Daniel's unwavering heart for God made him stand out in a foreign land - and heaven honored him for it.

Victory in the Lions' Den

▶ Daniel's faith silenced the roar of lions. The very king who signed his death warrant testified:

"The God whom you serve continually is able to deliver you!" (Daniel 6:16)

▶ And He did. Daniel emerged unharmed, proving that God rescues those who trust Him. As a result, King Darius glorified God publicly:

"He is the living God... He rescues and saves... He performs signs and wonders in heaven and on earth." (Daniel 6:26–27)

▶ Daniel's steadfast prayer and faith turned danger into a divine display of power.

From Captive to Leader

Daniel entered Babylon as a captive youth — but God raised him to positions of power and influence. Even when threatened with death for failing to interpret the king's dream, God gave Daniel wisdom and victory. Faithfulness led to promotion, and prayer paved the way for honor.

Your Turn to Be a Prayer Warrior!

Dear young friend, if God is with you, no circumstance can defeat you.

Like Daniel, stand firm in prayer, hold fast in faith, and rely on the guidance of the Holy Spirit. When you live with holy courage, your battles will turn into breakthroughs, and your life will glorify God.

Sensational News!

Hi Friends, How are you all doing? I'm thrilled to meet you again this month through Sensational News! Get ready to journey through true accounts—both ancient and modern—that show how God still commands nature itself.

Unstoppable Miracles of the Bible

The Bible records moments where faith shook the very laws of nature. Joshua prayed, and the sun stood still over Gibeon while the moon paused over Aijalon, right before Israel's eyes. Elijah called down fire from heaven, proving to the crowd that the Lord alone is God. Jesus spoke to raging winds and violent waves, commanding them to be still—and they obeyed.

These wonders defied science, overturned natural order, and turned entire multitudes back to God.

Thomas: From Doubt to Daring Faith

Even Thomas—often nicknamed “Doubting Thomas”—performed a breathtaking miracle through unwavering faith.

One day in Palayur, Kerala near a temple pond, he saw people performing rituals for their ancestors. They scooped water with their hands and threw it skyward, praying it would somehow reach those who had passed on.

Thomas challenged them: “Why does the water you throw keep falling back down? If your god truly hears you, why doesn't he accept your offering? But the God I serve not only hears my prayer—He will give you a sign. He will make this water remain suspended in the air!"

He looked toward heaven, prayed to Jesus, stepped into the pond, and threw water upward in faith. To everyone's amazement, the water hung midair like blossoms frozen in time. Even the spot where he scooped water formed a small hollow in the pond, as though nature itself acknowledged the miracle.

The event spread through the entire town like wildfire. People rushed to see it with their own eyes. Convinced by this wonder, about 1,050 people accepted Christ and were baptized. The very place of this miracle still exists in Palayur, Kerala—a living witness to what bold faith can do.

Modern Times: The Kanyakumari Red Alert Miracle

You might wonder—can such miracles still happen today? Here's proof.

A few years ago, a massive prayer meeting was planned in Kanyakumari district, with a well-known servant of God scheduled to share the Word. Preparations began months in advance. But just two days before the event, torrential rains pounded several districts of Tamil Nadu, including Kanyakumari. A Red Alert was issued—flood risk, danger everywhere.

Despite the crisis, believers all over Tamil Nadu began praying earnestly. The man of God also sought the Lord, who clearly said, "Go to that district—I will come and perform mighty wonders there."

With this assurance, he went forward. Incredibly, the three-day gathering took place without a single disruption. While the whole region waited to see disaster, the Red Alert in Kanyakumari was suddenly lifted. The danger passed.

And that wasn't all—during the prayer meeting, God worked supernatural signs and wonders, transforming countless lives. This was a powerful testimony that faith-filled prayer can bring even nature under God's command.

Called to More than Just Hearing about Miracles

Wow—aren't these wonders absolutely astonishing? But these are not stories to simply hear and admire. God hasn't chosen us just to listen to such miracles—He has called us to live them.

That's why He has given us precious faith. But here's the question:

Are we growing in it? How strong is our measure of faith today?

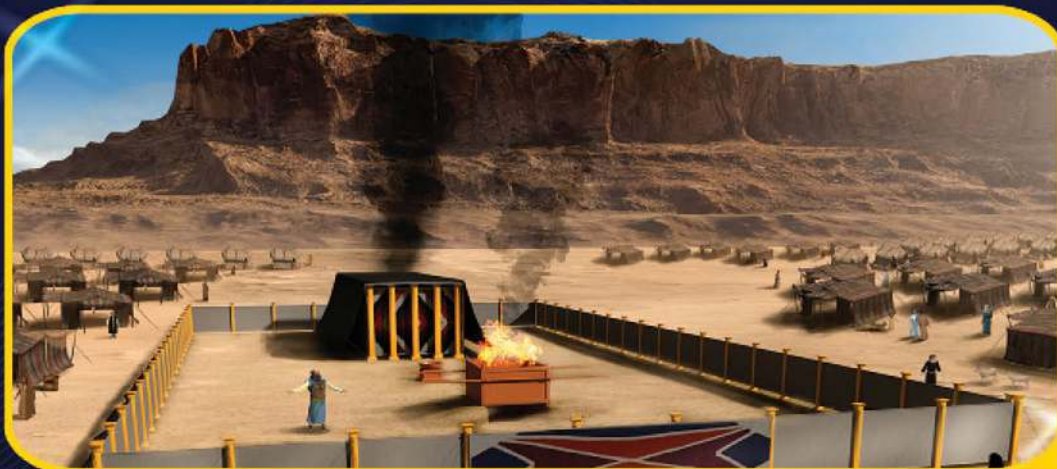

Casual belief won't do. These are the fruits of rock-solid, unwavering faith—a faith sharpened by a costly prayer life and an unquenchable desire to be used by God. Only strong, steadfast faith combined with sacrificial prayer will open the door to such mighty works.

So let's pray. Let's act. Let's rise with a hunger to do impossible things for the Lord. The world is waiting to see what happens when faith takes command!

The Tabernacle

Info: Moses

Aaron was appointed as the chief among priests—honored with the title of High Priest. To clothe his priestly office with dignity and splendor, the Lord commanded that sacred garments be fashioned for him (Exodus 28:2,4).

As the Lord instructed, Moses consecrated Aaron and his sons: he washed them with water, clothed Aaron with the tunic, tied the sash, placed the robe and the ephod upon him, secured the skillfully woven waistband, and set the breastpiece on his chest. Inside the breastpiece he placed the Urim and Thummim. A turban was placed upon his head, and on it a golden plate engraved with the words “Holiness to the Lord.” Let us look at the meaning of these garments, each divinely designed:

The Ephod: The ephod, overlaid with gold and woven with blue, purple, scarlet yarn, and fine linen, was worn only by the High Priest. The very word ephod means praise. It reminds us that our first duty is to praise God for His mighty works. On its shoulders were mounted two onyx stones, each engraved with six names of the tribes of Israel. The priest carried them upon his shoulders—symbolizing the call to intercede, support, and bear the burdens of God’s people.

The Breast piece of Judgment: Square and folded double, the breast piece was set with twelve precious stones, each engraved with the name of a tribe of Israel. Worn over the heart, it signified the priest’s call to love God’s people deeply (Exodus 39:8–21).

Inside were placed the Urim and Thummim (Exodus 28:30). These black and white stones were sacred instruments through which God’s will was revealed, answering with a divine “yes” or “no.” Urim means light—reminding us that God’s Word is a lamp to our feet (Psalm 119:105). Thummim means perfection—pointing to the fullness of the Holy Spirit (John 16:13).

The Robe: The priest’s robe was blue, with alternating pomegranates and golden bells along its hem. The pomegranates symbolized fruitfulness, while the bells represented power and spiritual gifts—both essential in the life of God’s servant.

The Tunic: The inner tunic was plain and white, simple and without ornament. This symbolized humility, purity, and a life of gentleness and simplicity.

The Turban and Crown: The priest wore a linen turban encircled around his head, covering both head and ears. This showed that he was not to minister by human wisdom or listen to mere human words, but to be attentive only to the voice of the Lord. Fastened to the front of the turban was a golden plate inscribed with "Holy to the Lord." This declared openly that the priest was set apart for God alone.

The Sash: The sash bound all the holy garments together and enabled Aaron to stand rightly before God. In the same way, we too must gird ourselves with the belt of truth and stand firm in faith.

Lessons for Us Today

When the priest stood before the people, he was clothed in radiant, costly garments. Likewise, before the world we are called to be clothed with strength, spiritual gifts, and divine wisdom.

Yet, when the priest entered the Most Holy Place before God, he wore only simple linen garments (Leviticus 16:4). This teaches us that before God, we must walk in humility (Micah 6:8). As Aaron was clothed in holy garments, so too, by the blood of Jesus, we are made priests. We must put on the new self, created to be like God in true righteousness and holiness (Ephesians 4:24). And for these last days, we are called to clothe ourselves with the full armor of God (Ephesians 6:10-17).

Stay tuned—next month we will explore the astonishing and fascinating details of the Tabernacle of Worship!

LOOSE THE KNOTS

Blaze the Trail • Bible Light Challenge

Every question in this challenge points to God's light revealed in Scripture — through people, promises, and powerful moments. Test how well you know the Word that lights our path. Keep your answers sharp — just one or two words each!

1. I was blinded by heavenly light for three days. Who am I?
2. Which Psalm says, "In Your light we see light"?
3. Which prophet said, "The people walking in darkness have seen a great light"?
4. "The spirit of man is the lamp of the Lord." — Is this in Proverbs or Psalms?
5. What kind of light guided Israel through the wilderness at night?
6. Who said, "I am not the Light, but I came to bear witness to the Light"?
7. "Your word is a lamp to my feet." Which Psalm?
8. Who wrote: "Satan disguises himself as an angel of light"?
9. Which Old Testament figure died with eyes still "undimmed"?
10. "The Lord is my light and my salvation." Who wrote this?

Your answers are expected to reach us on or before 15th of Every Month

Prayer Guide

October 2025

Prayer: Esther

- 1 Pray for the reversal of the global economic crisis, which—according to a UN report—left 783 million people suffering from hunger last year.
- 2 Intercede for those worldwide who are starving without adequate food.
- 3 Pray that the 783 million people without food and shelter will receive provision.
- 4 Lift up the 148 million children whose growth is stunted due to malnutrition, asking God to provide them with nourishing food.
- 5 Pray for nations in West Asia, the Caribbean, and Africa where economic decline has left people unable to afford even the bare minimum of food.
- 6 Intercede for peace between Russia and Ukraine, as the ongoing war has severely disrupted food and grain supply chains, causing shortages.
- 7 Ask the Lord to command prosperity in drought-stricken and famine-affected nations impacted by climate change, natural disasters, and severe weather.
- 8 Pray against food waste, as one-third of global food production (1.3 billion tons) is discarded annually.
- 9 Pray for the establishment of proper storage facilities in developing nations to prevent millions of tons of food from being wasted due to lack of warehouses.
- 10 Intercede for those who carelessly waste food—that their hearts may change to share it with those in need.
- 11 Pray for college students addicted to smartphones—some spending up to 10 hours a day—that they may be set free and focus on their studies.
- 12 Pray for young people facing back pain and health issues due to using smartphones more than 3 hours daily, asking for healing and discipline.
- 13 Lift up teenagers whose minds have been affected by video game addiction, committing their future into the Lord's hands.
- 14 Pray for children developing vision problems at an early age due to excessive smartphone use, asking God to restore their sight.

- 15 Intercede for the 38% of teenagers aged 14–18 suffering thoracic spine pain from phone overuse, asking for repentance and deliverance.
- 16 Pray that governments will conduct awareness programs in schools and colleges on the dangers of smartphone addiction.
- 17 Intercede for India, where 80 murder cases are registered daily—ask God to restrain spirits of violence and bloodshed.
- 18 Pray against the 29,193 murders reported in a single year, especially concentrated in Uttar Pradesh, asking God to stop these crimes.
- 19 Ask the Lord to reduce violence and murder through the proclamation of the saving Gospel, leading to societal transformation.
- 20 Pray about the alarming rise in homicides and suicides among youth: 38.5% of cases involve those aged 30–45, 35.9% involve those aged 18–30, 25.6% involve those over 45. Ask God to protect young lives from destruction.
- 21 Pray fervently that young people will no longer destroy one another—or themselves—through violence.
- 22 Intercede for the destruction of demonic spirits inciting murder and bloodshed across our land.
- 23 Pray that droughts would end, rains would come, and farmlands would be blessed, and that farmers would act wisely in adapting to climate changes.
- 24 Ask God to remove weakness, exhaustion, mental stress, and sleeplessness caused by extreme heat and drought.
- 25 Pray for an end to wars, terrorism, and uprisings, asking the Lord to establish peace among nations.
- 26 Intercede for India, where one woman dies every hour due to dowry harassment—pray for this evil to be completely eradicated.
- 27 Pray against the 8,233 dowry-related cases reported in 2012 (according to NCRB), asking for the binding of the spirits that incite this crime.
- 28 Ask God to stop the burning of women every 90 minutes in dowry-related murders—averaging 20 deaths every single day.
- 29 Pray for justice and swift resolution of the 6,000+ dowry cases registered annually in India.
- 30 Let us pray that through the churches the Gospel will spread with intensity and that the power of God will be revealed.
- 31 Let us pray that revival will break out in the churches, that the name of the Lord may be glorified, and that all may be filled with the Holy Spirit.

Igniters Youth Fellowship is a place where young people ignite their spiritual lives, discover the profound truths of the Bible, and find strength in praying for the country as a group. Revival Seeds

Last month, we reflected on the life of John Thomas, who, like a grain of wheat falling to the ground, labored tirelessly for 33 years in Meignanapuram and its surrounding 125 villages-proclaiming the Gospel, building 54 schools and many churches, and winning countless souls for Christ despite fierce opposition and personal loss. This month, let us turn our attention to another remarkable servant of God—a missionary who prayed like Caleb of old: “Give me this mountain” (Joshua 14:12). With the same spirit, he pleaded, “Lord, send me to the hardest mission field on earth. There I will serve You.” That missionary was Robert Morrison, the pioneer who carried the Gospel light into China.

Robert Morrison: The Torchbearer to China

Early Life

Robert Morrison was born in England in 1782 as the eighth child in his family. From a young age, he assisted his father in a wood-engraving factory. Through the influence of his devout father, Robert spent his leisure hours reading the Bible. While most boys preferred games, Robert devoted his time to learning the Scriptures under his pastor’s guidance. At the age of 14, he left school to train in his father’s trade.

The Call of God

At 15, Robert experienced a deep conversion and began to grow daily in his walk with Christ. Reading missionary journals stirred his heart with a burden for foreign lands that had never heard of Jesus. He longed to go himself as a missionary.

Yet his mother opposed the idea strongly, declaring that as long as she lived, Robert must never leave home. But Robert continued to pray. When his mother passed away in 1802, he entered missionary training in London for two years and was soon accepted by the London Missionary Society.

Though opportunities for ministry abounded in England, Robert’s heart burned for China.

The Journey to China

In 1807, with no fellow laborers available, the Society decided to send Robert alone to China. The East India Company refused him permission to travel or settle there. Determined, Robert first sailed to America, secured letters of recommendation, and then boarded an American ship bound for Canton (now Guangzhou). After a seven-month voyage, he arrived in September 1807.

Suspicion and hostility met him at every turn. Preaching the Gospel openly was forbidden. Learning the Chinese language itself was considered dangerous. His first tutors even warned him: "If the authorities discover us teaching you, we will be tortured. We keep poison ready to end our lives before capture."

Yet Robert pressed on. Within 18 months, he had produced the first Chinese dictionary. The East India Company, impressed by his skill, offered him a translator's position with a salary. But his true mission was far greater.

Trials and Family Sorrows

In China, Robert married Mary Morton, daughter of an English physician. But the harsh climate soon took a toll on her health. In 1815, she returned to England with their two children. When she rejoined Robert in 1821, her health failed again, and she passed away soon after. Their children, Rebecca (9) and John (7), were sent back to England for education. Grieving deeply, Robert poured his lonely hours into translating the Scriptures.

The Mission Work

In 1815, he published the New Testament in Chinese. This act cost him his employment with the East India Company. Undeterred, he pressed forward. In 1824, after years of toil, Robert completed and published the entire Bible in Chinese—the first of its kind.

During a visit to England, he trained young missionaries and conducted classes for women who felt called to serve in China. Many of these women later carried the Gospel into that vast land.

In 1826, he returned to Canton, continuing both translation and mediation work between Britain and China. The burden, however, weakened his body. On August 1, 1834, after 25 years of grueling labor in China, Robert Morrison went to be with the Lord. His converts were few, but his translation of the Bible laid an eternal foundation for the spread of the Gospel in China.

A Legacy for Us

Dear young friends, missionaries like Robert Morrison counted even family, comforts, and life itself as nothing compared to the cause of Christ. Because they burned for God, nations once shrouded in darkness now shine with the light of the Gospel.

Their lives remind us that it is only when the seed falls to the ground and dies that a harvest can spring forth. Will you, like Robert Morrison, be willing to take up the hardest fields that multitudes might be prepared for eternity?

NEWS!

One-Third of Deaths in India Caused by Heart Disease: Study Report Released

A shocking study has revealed that one in every three deaths in India is due to heart-related illnesses. The Registrar General of India has published a report analyzing the causes of death across the country between 2021 and 2023.

According to the findings, 56.7% of deaths were attributed to non-communicable diseases. Meanwhile, 23.4% of deaths were linked to communicable diseases, maternal and neonatal complications, and nutritional deficiencies.

Alarming, 31% of the deaths were caused by cardiovascular conditions. Following this, respiratory infections accounted for 9.3%, tumors for 6.4%, other respiratory complications for 5.7%, digestive disorders for 5.3%, fevers for 4.9%, road accidents and injuries for 3.7%, diabetes for 3.5%, and genitourinary diseases for 3%. Additionally, 10.5% of deaths were categorized as having no clearly identified cause.

Among individuals aged 15 to 29, self-inflicted injuries and suicide were reported as the most common causes of death. In contrast, unexplained deaths were predominantly observed in people aged 70 and above. (Source: Dinakaran, September 6)

The Suffering of Children in Gaza: 21,000 Have Lost Natural Abilities, Says UN

Due to relentless Israeli attacks, nearly 21,000 children in Gaza have lost basic abilities and have been rendered disabled, according to a United Nations agency for persons with disabilities.

The report further states that around 40,500 children have been injured during the conflict, with nearly half of them losing vital functions such as hearing, speech, or vision. Severe malnutrition is also afflicting children in Gaza. If the current situation continues, approximately 132,000 children face the risk of death by June 2026, according to the Integrated Food Security Phase Classification system.

Since the onset of the conflict, over 63,700 people have been killed and more than 161,000 injured, as reported by the region's health department.

Youth Revival Meetings

Revival Fire on the Move!

951 young lives ignited for Christ!

From Valliyur to Tiruchirappalli — the Spirit was unstoppable!

This July and August, God showed up in power at Youth Revival Meetings across Valliyur, Thisayanvilai, Chennai-Ramapuram, Chittoor (AP), and Tiruchirappalli. Nearly 951 youth flocked to these meetings—and none of them left the same!

Heaven poured out fire without limits

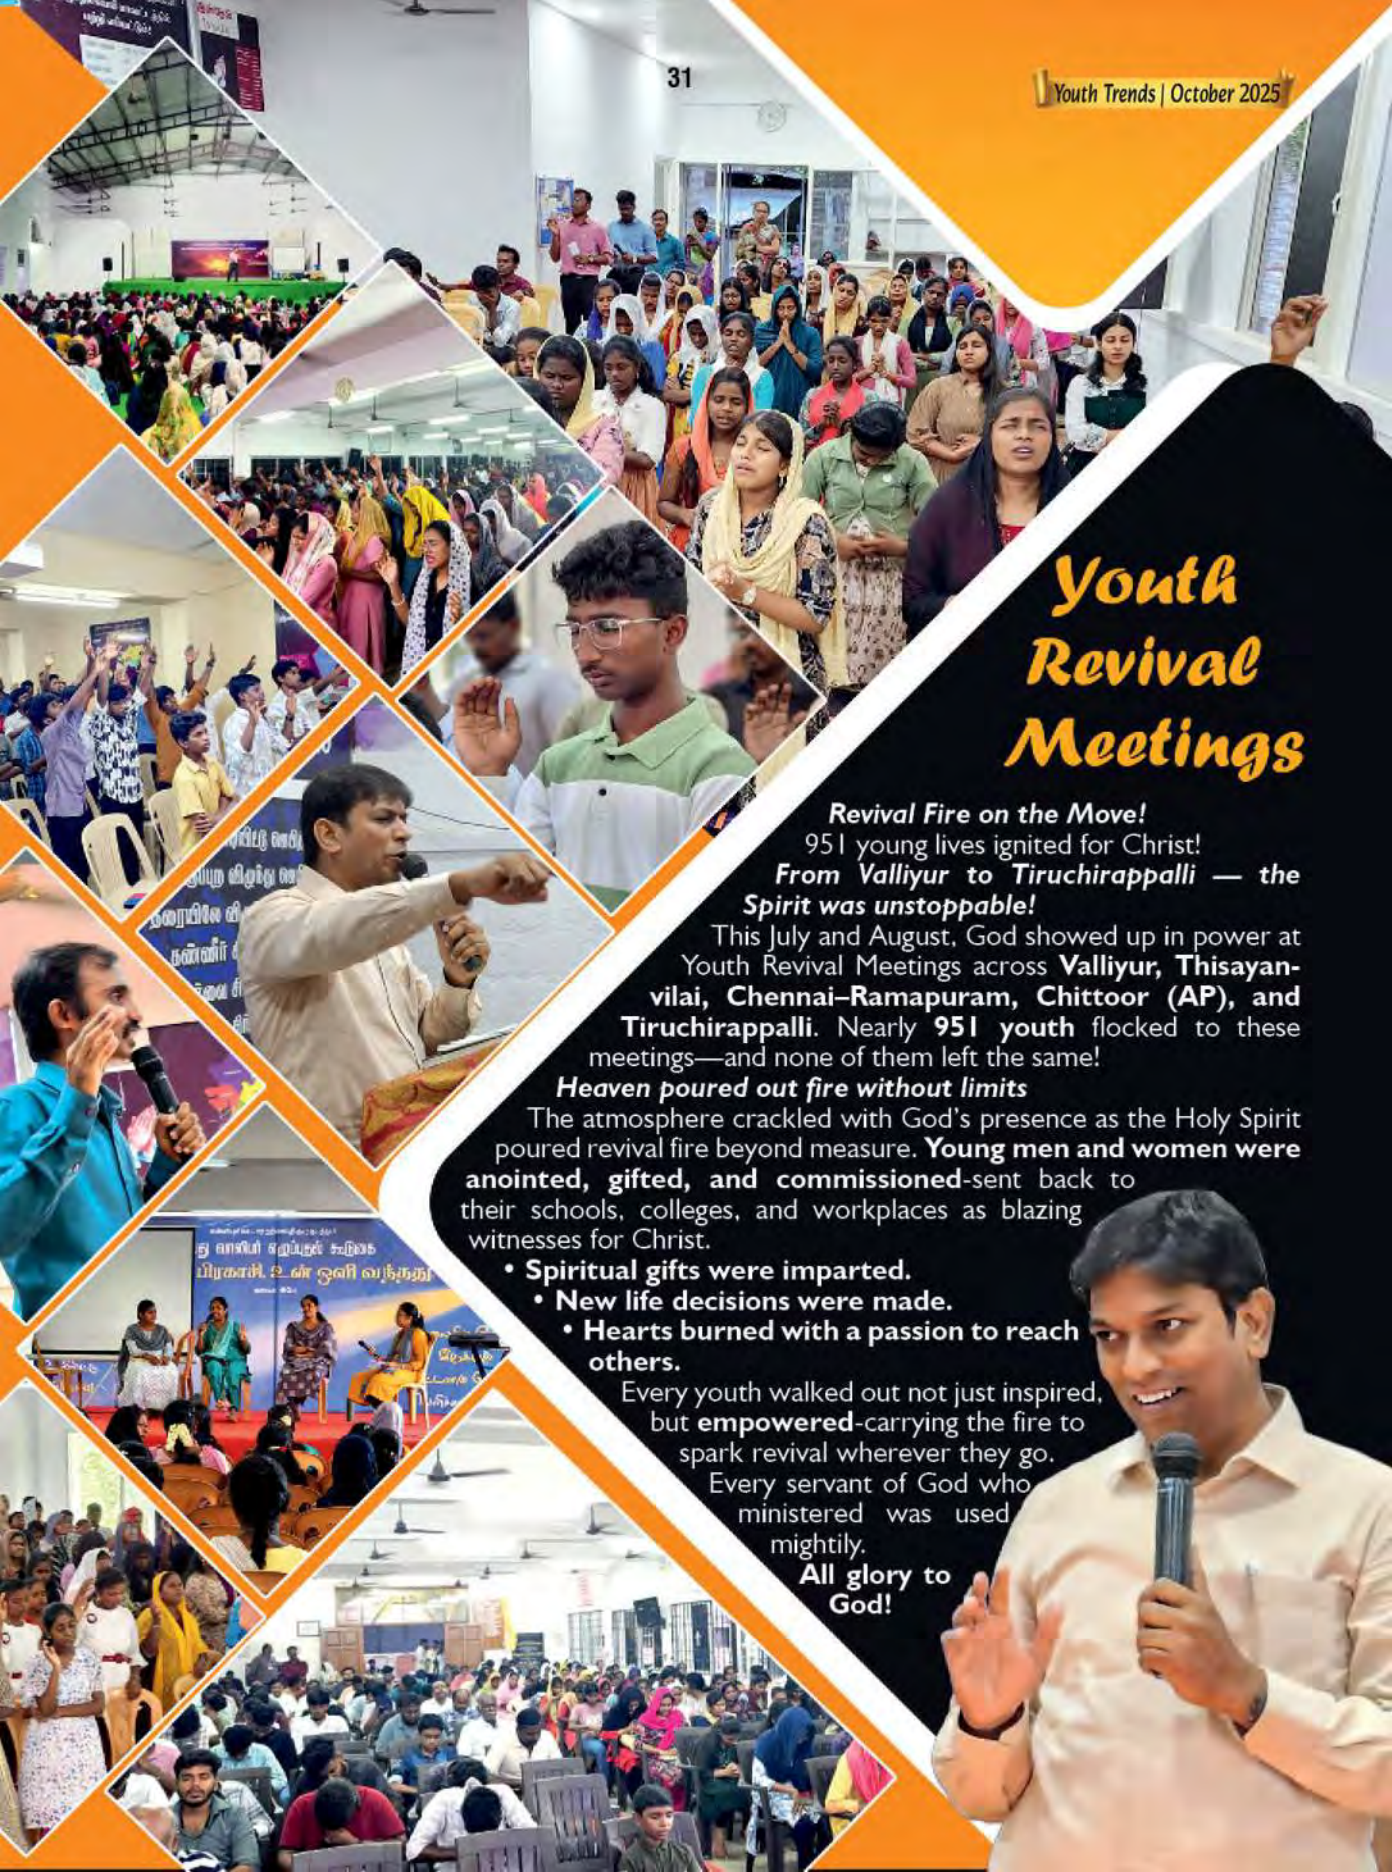

The atmosphere crackled with God's presence as the Holy Spirit poured revival fire beyond measure. Young men and women were anointed, gifted, and commissioned—sent back to their schools, colleges, and workplaces as blazing witnesses for Christ.

- Spiritual gifts were imparted.
- New life decisions were made.
- Hearts burned with a passion to reach others.

Every youth walked out not just inspired, but empowered—carrying the fire to spark revival wherever they go.

Every servant of God who ministered was used mightily.

All glory to God!
